Nation's Most Notorious Counterfeiter Will Donate $2 Million

Wayne V. Dennis will donate large portions of his book profits to purchase new recreational equipment for underprivileged schools and schoolchildren.

LAS VEGAS, NV – Former Counterfeiter, Wayne Victor Dennis, will donate $2 million in new recreation equipment to underprivileged schools and schoolchildren. “Each of the one-hundred schools will receive twenty-thousand dollars in new recreational equipment to help children achieve better health through fun activities and fitness,” Dennis confirms.

Additionally, the inventor and author makes himself available to administer “free” speeches at schools throughout the United States, regarding the pitfalls of prison, and the advantages of living an honest life. Schools may request the “free” speech by contacting Dennis directly.

Monetary donations towards the schools will be generated from sales of his praised novel The Counterfeit Millionaire: a 532-page, true-crime adventure with photographic essay. This story of explicit detail was written during his seven-year stint at multiple federal prisons; a severe punishment he received for manufacturing the largest cache of counterfeit currency in U.S. history.

He printed $15,000,000.00 in twenty-dollar Federal Reserve notes — more than a ton of cash! Dennis and his fiancée, Alexia, exchanged the counterfeit at a rate of $4,000.00 an hour through casinos in Las Vegas; until the light of Lady Luck faded. The Secret Service recovered $9,802,920.00, which was hidden in South Florida.
